Overview

Summary

The Jewish Community Council of Marine Park (“JCCMP”) is a social services organization that unites and assists the residents of the Marine Park community and its surrounding neighborhoods. Focusing on the needs of these specific communities, the JCCMP has created numerous programs and services designed to improve the overall quality of life of its residents. Whether it is providing financial assistance or food to families, social activities for teens, or advocating with the government, the JCC of Marine Park addresses the immediate needs of the community and the individual, enhancing and improving the quality of lives of both. The JCCMP has opened locations throughout NYC. <https://www.jccmp.org/>

What does JCCMP offer?

- Education
 - The JCCMP offers several computer classes designed to help enhance employment opportunities for the residents of Marine Park and the surrounding communities. The classes are open to anyone who could attend.
 - Most of these classes are free. The remainder are subsidized by JCCMP to significantly reduce the cost.
